4 / DATA RECIPIENTS

We share your personal data with your consent or if it is necessary to complete a transaction, to provide a product or service that you have requested or authorised, or to comply with legal obligations.

Your personal data may be disclosed to service providers working on our behalf, acting as data processors for us and who may need access to personal data in order to provide customer service support or to help protect and secure our systems and services. In such cases, these companies must comply with our data confidentiality and security requirements and are not permitted to use the personal data we transfer to them for any other purpose.

We also share your data where this is required by law, to respond to legal proceedings, to meet our obligations to the supervisory authorities, to protect our customers, to maintain the security of our Products & Services, to protect our rights or property, for the management of disputes and debt recovery, and for the payment of services.

Where applicable, the companies and/or persons in contact with us to whom personal data is communicated may be located inside or outside the European Union. In the event of data transfers to third parties located outside the European Union, we comply with the legal and regulatory provisions in force regarding such transfers and, in particular, ensures an adequate level of protection for the personal data thus transferred, on the basis of the alternative mechanisms put in place by the European Commission or other contractual provisions.

5 / DATA SECURITY

The personal information we collect is kept in a secure environment.

The people working for us are trained to respect the confidentiality of your information.

To ensure the security of your personal data, we limit it to the strict minimum and use the following measures in particular:
